The Company reserves the right to warn, mute, suspend, or permanently ban users who engage in persistent negativity, trolling, baiting, passive-aggressive behavior, targeted annoyance of other players, sarcastic abuse of staff, or any pattern of behavior that degrades the community experience. A single incident may be sufficient for action if the severity warrants it.

3.4 Content Standards

All content posted, shared, transmitted, or displayed through the Service (including usernames, display names, avatars, profile pictures, bios, chat messages, voice communications, and any other user-generated content) must comply with this AUP. The Company reserves the right to remove any content and take action against the responsible user at any time, without prior notice.

3.5 Streaming and Content Creation

Users who stream, record, or create content featuring the Service must comply with this AUP at all times. The Company reserves the right to restrict or revoke streaming and content creation privileges for any user who violates this AUP or whose content reflects negatively on the Service or the Company's brand, in the Company's sole discretion. Content creators do not receive any special exemptions from this AUP.

4. Enforcement

4.1 Company Discretion

REACT Studios Corp. reserves sole and absolute discretion in determining whether conduct constitutes a violation of this AUP, the severity of the violation, and the appropriate enforcement action. In accordance with the Privacy Policy, the Company retains hashed identifiers (including IP address hashes, email hashes, device fingerprints, and hardware identifiers) from banned Accounts indefinitely to prevent ban evasion and protect the community. Any new Account linked to a previously banned user will be immediately terminated.
